

Leading with Trust

A foundation program of the Leadership Mastery through the Way of the Horse Series

Trust-based leadership is an irresistible, positive force. Trusted leaders and organizations do things better, faster, and at lower cost. In The Speed of Trust; The One Thing that Changes Everything, Covey outlines the importance of trust for every business relationship.

Without it, the cost of doing business is high. This three-day session focuses on how to leverage the power of trust within your team. It covers the 13 behaviors of trust-inspiring leaders, such as demonstrating respect, creating transparency, righting wrongs, delivering results and practicing accountability. After working with the horses, you'll leave with the tools, techniques and insights required to put you and your team on the road to increased productivity through increased trust. Horses are excellent trust teachers because:

- Horses only respond to people they trust.
- You just can't fake it with a horse, no matter how hard you try.
- Horses are direct reflections of the people that handle them.
- Horses are very perceptive, they pick up messages that we miss, or are unaware that we are giving.
- Horses have the ability to read our emotions that are below the surface.

Inspiring trust is as much about being as it is doing.

*For those who lead
and who want to lead*

Dates: September 17 – 19, 2009
October 8 – 10, 2009
Time: 9 AM - 5 PM, daily
Place: Woodinville, Washington
Deadline: Registration & full payment two weeks prior to workshop date
Fee: $1,950 includes lunch & materials
Contact: amanda@roamconsultingllc.com

Register early!
Space limited to 12 participants!

- No horse experience necessary
- No riding involved
- Safe horse handling practices

This workshop incorporates the philosophy of the Epona Approach™. Amanda Madorno is a leadership coach, organizational consultant and Approved Instructor in Equine Experiential Learning.